Bahia Blanca, April 26, 9 a.m.

Splendid excursion most perfect arrangements; complete enjoyment. We picked up Governor Rocha at Ferrari and all his friends from La Plata.

Narrow escape of Rufino Varela, who got down to change coach at Burzaco. Train went off; he caught iron railing and passengers opened windows and tried to get him in, but it was impossible. He was tied on with a poncho and held out until we arrived at Ferrari. Most miraculous escape!

We all sat in coach, chatting, and played cards in first train, and in second train reading and saying our prayers until a late hour. Beds for every one. Coffee served at 7 a.m. Governor, Duggan and General Lavalle taking maté all the morning.

Magnificent sunrise on Olavarria hills; reminds one of Ireland. Country looking enchanting in early morning air. Breakfast at La Gama—repast fit for Emperor of all the Russias. No speeches.

Mr. Crawley advised Governor second train coming, so we had to start. Passengers of second train very hungry. Great speeches. Health of Directors of Southern Railway drunk with three times three.

Neild replied and asked Company to wait until they got to Bahia Blanca, as they had seen nothing yet. Casey and Governor playing cards all day until reaching Curumalan to-day. Manager of the River Plate Bank reading Pilgrim's Progress. Canon Carranza telling amusing stories. Cadmus, Duggan and Salvador Gomez singing songs. General Uriburu and Ricardo Lezica made speeches on country's progress. Moores everywhere.

Great alarm in first train at noon; the tremendous gathering along the line looked like Indians. Casey's mares; whole country covered with animals; passengers of first train cheering wildly as we enter Curumalan station. Mares, as far as tip of horizon, then cows, and sheep. At Curumalan station, Mr Brett, mayordomo of the estate, was presented to Governor. Messrs Stowe, Sewell and Lett take cocktails with General Uriburu and the parish priest of La Plata. Splendid country, everyone in good humour: Mares and cows behind, and before, and around train; raining hard, only two umbrellas in train, and one on top of Curumalan mountain; mountains magnificent, Cadmus thinks peak of Curumalan is like the Hill of Howth, Dublin; 'carne con cuero' in train, all pronounced Casey's beef the best ever eaten; passengers in second train reading and examining their consciences and sleeping siesta until we reached Curumalan. There the whole crowd stood up, astonished at the sight of all the cattle and mares; stop train, track covered, great whistling and excitement. First train ran at tremendous speed from Alfalfa to Naposta; country covered with water; Salvador Gomez showing us his lands on hills in distance.

Brandy and soda and tea without milk all round in cars; raining hard; first train reached Bahia Blanca at 5.30, whole town "embanderada" quintas under water; station crowded; train goes on to port. First man to welcome the Governor at Bahia Blanca was Frank Parish. Tremendous cheering. All proceed to banquet hall; no dinner until second train arrived; have to wait 2 hours; passengers starved. Governor and friends talking and full of familiar glee; cocktails all round; flags of all nations, Mr Newberry discovers three German flags. At 8 p.m. second train arrives, Messrs Barker, Bouwers and Neild lead passengers into banquet hall and present them. Dinner splendid; no speeches; everyone delighted. People spent night on platform smoking and telling stories. Many went up to the town. Grand ball; 150 ladies assembled to welcome guests to Bahia Blanca. Illumination. Dancing all night. Town turned inside out. Guests sleep in cars. Duggan and Governor first up in the morning. Booth-blacks brought out from Buenos Aires; boots polished free. Coffee in bed; splendid bath; weather cold; San Blas wind cutting.

All start for port; narrow escape of Sansinena and Duggan; crossing canal latter slipped into mud up to his knees. At 9 a.m. all start in little steamer to have a look at the port.

THE BAHIA BLANCA RAILWAY INAUGURATION.

On last Thursday evening the guests of the Great Southern Railway assembled, at 7 p.m., at the temporary Plaza Constitucion Terminus, to take the first train for Bahia Blanca. The invitations were so numerous and so generally accepted that it was found necessary to put on two trains—the first to start at 7.30 and to meet the Governor's train from La Plata at Ferrari, and the second to start at 8 p.m., with the local Board of Directors, their numerous friends, etc.

We travelled in the first, and our immediate circle consisted of Messrs. E Casey, M Duggan, S Gomez, M Cadmus, R Lezica, and R Eastman—men whose wealth, position and experience were only rivalled by the fastidiousness of their tastes and the great brilliancy of their conversation and criticism.

For us there was a certain mystic charm in the words of the guard—"Passengers for Bahia Blanca please take seats." Crushed and squeezed on the platform by the passengers just arriving by the La Gama train, then jostled by the crowds getting out of the La Plata train, we felt as it were that at last we had reached the Prophet's shrine. Was it Charing-Cross or Plaza Constitucion we were standing in? Such a jam! such a throng! And to think that but a few years ago we had to post a man round the corner on the Calle Buen Orden Hill, to count the carts, horses and men entering the town, to persuade everyone in Buenos Ayres, except EDWARD LUMB, that there was traffic in the South, to support a railway! Verily, Bahia Blanca is a tremendous lesson to us all, and there are 500 more such lessons in store for us yet.

The train, the cars, the beds, the buffet—everything was arranged on a scale of the most magnificent hospitality, worthy alike of the host and the visitors. South America has never before witnessed such profuse hospitality, such a railway pageantry, such superb and unbroken arrangements. A brigade of waiters attended the guests. In the train everything, from champagne to cleaning your boots, was supplied free, and at certain intervals and stations banquets and baths awaited the travellers. Admirable sleeping cars were improvised; every one had his number and his bed, and a servant to attend each sleeping car and look after the luggage.

If the heat of the sleeping car was inconvenient, ventilators refreshed the sleepers. Over Michael Duggan's berth there was one, which fanned him during the night's repose, so gently that he told us in the morning he felt as if fanned all night by the feathers of the Argus pheasant's wing. Our train dashed through the Southern suburbs and drew up at Bursaco before we had well finished that most intensely of English meals, tea. Here Mr. Rufino Varela had a narrow escape of being left behind, and afterwards of losing his life; the particulars are in our telegram. Our next pause was at Ferrari where, true to time, the Governor's train came in, with a vast crowd of La Plata, Punta Lara and Quilmes friends, perhaps the noisiest of our whole party. Mr. Moores, president of local board, welcomed Governor Rocha, Minister Villamayor, General Uriburu, Cononigo Carranza, Mr. Younger, Judge Curuchet and others, the bands played stirring airs; and after a delay of over half an hour we all started, and all settled down, some to bed, some to spoil five—and some to Truco. We never pulled up until reaching Villanueva which is the cradle railway station of sheep-farming in the Plate; but we were surprised that Mr. Shenaan, the Lord of the Manor, was not in our train. Here our party retired to bed for the night, and we awoke at day-break in sight of the green hills of Olavarria. Taking 'mate amargo' with Governor Rocha, Mr Moores and General Levalle we passed the early morning through camps dotted with the humble farmhouses of the Russian colonists.

Blest that abode where'er it may repair
And every stranger finds a ready chair.

There was a certain air of comfort and contentment about the colonist's house, stretching from the railway to the Mountains side, that suggested to us all the great want of more colonists in the Province of Buenos Aires, and some of our remarks elicited an observation from the Canonigo of La Plata, that the incoming Governor has set his heart on new colonies and has pledged that his policy will be to start 50,000 colonists families along the route of the Great Southern Railway. Heaven bless the mark, and may he succeed.

Here and there, as we passed along, we saw the colonists driving in those handy four-wheeled Savoyard waggons that one sees in all the Santa Fe colonies. Even close to the railway track we skirt fine alfalfa fields fenced with tall spiral poplar trees. Industry and comfort and competence were evidenced in every kilometre here about, and a couple of hundred of these Olavarria Russian and Danish colonies would be a fit corollary to the railway extension to Bahia Blanca. It may come, and we believe it will.

We arrived at La Gama at half past 8 o'clock a.m., and found baths and banquet awaiting us. Mr. Gandolfi, the confitero at the Plaza Constitution, supplied the feast, which was spread in the locomotive "galpon," beautifully adorned with flags of all nations, and on the centre table, at which the Governor, Minister, and Mr Moores sat, there was most artistically set, a railway train, made of flowers and shrubs, perhaps the neatest work of the horticulturist we ever saw, and which was subsequently presented to Governor Rocha. The breakfast was on the same magnificent scale with all the other arrangements; just as the champagne was uncorked. Mr Crawley, who had all the train service at his charge, told the Governor that the second train was near hand, and thus, as good luck would have it, there was no time for speeches. Governor Rocha here took Mr Casey, Don Salvador Gomez, and other friends into his private carriage, as very soon we should be at Curumalan. We kept with Cadmus, Duggan, Eastman, the Canon, and the General, and for a couple of hours we ran over a wide flat country, a fertile waste expanding to the skies, until we neared Colina and Sauce Corto, when the country changed and assumed a much more cheerful aspect. In a few minutes more we crossed the Sauce Corto bridge, and very soon entered Curumalan fence, perhaps the greatest of all the River Plate enclosures, 111 square leagues of the best camp in this hemisphere.

The first thing we noticed as we entered the estate was a new brick farm house, the homestead of one of the new French colonists. A little ahead and the whole camp was covered as far as the eye could reach were mares, cows and sheep. Everyone stood up in the train to witness the sight, never before seen in this or any other country, and with difficulty to be witnessed again—and "quien sabe" what number of sheep.

50,000 mares,
21,000 cows,

On either side of the railway track the animals fed: they were not ranged as Mr. Casado's agricultural machines on the opening of his Santa Fe Railway, nor were they formed in line as a live stock phalanx, but they were grazing on the camps as far as the sight could reach. Don Miguel was astounded, but General Uriburu and General Levalle, who had known these camps for years and years under far different circumstances, were perfectly speechless at the sight. Ten years—five years, aye but two years ago these very camps were in the hands of the Indians. To-day they are stocked with Durham cattle, Lincoln sheep and Cleveland sires. We stopped at Curumalan Station, and were welcomed by Mr. Brett, the mayordomo. We took in here "carne con cuero," and Messrs Sewell and Stow, shook hands with the Messrs. Lett, Beattie, and others. The mares were around the station and the very train. From the windows of the railway coach we could see the magnificent stables erected at such great cost by Mr. Casey, to accommodate 100 Sires. We believe the horses bred on this estate will yet acquire the world's renown. The new estancia house stands on a hill that commands a view of the valley that stretches to the mountains. Mr. Stow pointed out to us, on the other side of the track, Mr. Langworthy's beautiful bow-windowed house, but the mares, and the cows, and the sheep were above [illegible] below, around, everywhere.

We could see nothing but the mountains and the mares, and for hours the train ran through this estate, passing 4 railway stations on the land. What a property! Where the very estanciero or "mayordomo" to visit the puestos, must go by train! We passed the Pigue, where but 6 months ago there was nothing but a railway engineers' 'casilla' in which 8 of us slept the night. To-day it is not only the centre of railway works, sheds, houses, galpones, etc., but fully 100 French peasants lined the platform and welcomed Governor Rocha to their new colony. The rain came down in torrents hereabouts, and the tall peak of Curumalan frowned on us as the shrill whistle of the locomotive echoed through the ravines in the mountain and came back on us through the lovely valley beneath. The wizard of the mountain watched us as we passed, and in spirit we heard the Genii of Curumalan shout from the cloud-capped peaks—

Viva the Great Southern Railway!
Viva Governor Rocha!
Viva Eduardo Casey!

FRUIT FARMING.

There is probably no other country in the world more adapted to fruit farming than this. In the fruit season the yield is so enormous that we feed our milch cows on the peaches, pears apples, and apricots that fall in the night from the trees, and now that the Italians have taken to planting orchards in the islands of the Lujan, Carapachay and Paraua, there will really be no limit to the supply of peaches, apples and pears.

On the inauguration of the new market in Plaza Lorea, the other day, we noticed that the only man in the whole market who was able to rent nine stalls, one after the other, was the fruit man. We saw apples and pears by the million; and a friend who knows much of market life says, that the apple-man and peach-man make more money than the butcher who sells fat beef and mutton.

They have begun making jam at the Islands, and also preserving fruit in tins. We hope to see this new trade developed, and the following most interesting chapter, which, has been sent us, will much interest those of our readers who have quintas and islands. With such a climate as ours, and such inexhaustible fertility of soil, we might beat the whole world in fruit farming; but then we are all too well off; and who on earth thinks of raising fruit for sale? Why even in most of the quintas the grapes are allowed to rot rather than sell them to the Italians to make wine.

The following is the paper:—

At the present time our farmers are being told on all hands that the future of our agriculture will depend more on an amalgamation of many small profits than on one large profit made either from corn-growing or stock-raising. The poultry yard, bee keeping, the growth of vegetables and of fruits, flax culture, and the manufacture of soft and tasty cheeses after the style of the Continent have all been recommended. In the recently-issued journal of the Royal Agricultural Society, Mr. Charles Whitehead, of Maidstone, deals very fully with the subject of fruit farming in this country, and as side by side with this somewhat remarkable essay we have also some rather remarkable, though small volumes from America, the whole will give a most interesting account of the state of both countrtes with regard to these adjuncts of successful farming. Taking the story of England first, we have many interesting details. It appears that between the years 1872 and 1882 fruit-growing land increased no less than 26,696 acres, while an analysis shows that this increase is apparent in 26 counties, all the others showing a decrease. The most important increase is shown in the five fruit-growing counties of Hereford (with 5,944 acres), Kent (5,362 acres), Somerset (with 4,324 acres), Worcester (4,290 acres), and Gloucester (with 3,251 acres increase); while Devonshire—in which county apples were cultivated so long ago as 1520—shows only an increase of 358 acres. These figures are regarded as showing the "vis inertiæ" of the English farmer. Mr. Whitehead regards this increase as ridiculously small. It is generally acknowledged that fruit, vegetables, and milk are becoming year by year more essential elements of the diet of all classes of the community. The temperance movement also has already increased the demand for these articles of diet, and will increase it considerably more, especially as regards fruit, for persons who indulge in alcoholic stimulants rarely take fruit or jam, or conserves made of fruit.

An important proportion of the increased fruit consumption is due to the demand for jam for home and foreign consumption. Jam is becoming a common article of food throughout the country. As our dairies cannot furnish butter for those who are unable to give from 1s. 5d. to 1s. 8d. per lb. for this luxury, they use jam for themselves and their children. This can now be bought in most village grocers' shops at from 7d. to 9d. per lb., owing, mainly, to the energy of French, Belgian, Dutch, German, and American fruit-growers. Jam factories are being established in various parts of this country, and new processes have been introduced to help and improve the manufacture of jams and preserves of all kinds. There is yet a vast difference in jam. The real jam is made of good, freshly-picked fruits, which are not mashed up into a mess, but are preserved whole, so that specific fruits may be identified. For jam-[illegible] of all qualities [illegible] making, fruit [illegible] and description is poured off in a wonderfully rapid manner. When there is a short crop, the demand for jams and preserves sends up the prices of fruit to a figure far beyond the reach of ordinary customers, as in the last season, for example, when damsons and plums were making 4d. per lb., wholesale, and black currants from 4½d. to 5d. per lb. In full fruit seasons jam-makers buy up fruit, and, having reduced it to pulp, put it into large jars or vessels of various kinds, without sugar. If the air is carefully excluded, this pulp will keep for some time, until a scarcity of fruit happens again. It is, in fact, the adoption of the principle of ensilage to fruit. This is adopted in other countries. Large quantities of apricot pulp are sent from France at an average price of about 5d. per lb. It may here be useful to point out that, notwithstanding the importation of fruit from divers parts of the world, the prices, taking the average of seasons, are very high, and the prices of fine fruit for dessert purposes place it beyond the means of all but those who have plenty of money. It may seem strange that fruit should be so dear, as it was in 1882, for example, when it is seen that the amount of raw fruit sent into this country during this year was 4,045,691 bushels, of the value of £1,718,909, independently of the large quantities of fruit in the form of pulp, or dried by the sun or by artificial processes. The annexed return will show the amount of raw fruit sent into England in 1871 and 1882 respectively, and the various countries from which it was sent:—

ROSARIO.

(From our own Correspondent.)

April 25th.

The religious ceremony in the public prison, of giving the communion to the prisoners, took place on Sunday last. As this is a curious vestige of old Spanish customs, I will probably interest some of the readers of the Standard by describing it. The first thing to be done is the collection of clothes, food, delicacies, money, etc. to be distributed to the prisoners on the auspicious day. It is usual for the ladies of the Benevolent Societies to take the initative in those proceedings; the time is past in these countries for the men to take an active part in religious ceremonies, except in such places as Cordoba, "Sleepy Hollow" etc. There are no longer "Brotherhoods of Misericordia," with their shrouded heads, whose principal duty it was to soften the bitter fate of cut-throats on their way to execution. These still exist in out-of-the-way places in Spain and Italy, but they have disappeared in America. The women are now the only friends the inmates of our prisons have.

The prisoners all have to confess prior to the day of Communion. The poor priests must have a tribulating time of it listening to the details of crime in all its varying phases of atrocity. The large patio of the Jefatura was fitted up for the occasion; at one end the altar for celebrating Mass was raised. On one side were ranged about a hundred prisoners, most of them decently arrayed in the clothes collected for them. The men accused, or guilty, or sentenced, for murder were conspicuous by their schackles. The whole were guarded by five and twenty soldiers. On the other sides of the patio were standing or seated the public, which consisted chiefly of women and young girls. All of the ladies of the Benevolent Societies of course, and the principal authorities were present; and it was an interesting spectacle to see the many beautiful and well-dressed young girls, eying with wondering gaze the rows of criminal faces opposite them, not realizing or probably not knowing anything about the horrible crimes committed by many of the convicts, but all feeling a strange pity for these men, deprived of liberty and the joys of home.

After Mass, the whole lot were administered the sacrament in batches, the ceremony being witnessed with great interest by the ladies, many of whom were in tears. After this the presents were distributed, and then commenced the petitions for pardon. The Gefe Politico was surrounded by the ladies and particularly by the young ones. "Oh, Doctor Vila, let me have the pardon of that tall man with the black moustache, who is looking at me; he looks good."

"That man, Señorita, is the murderer of a whole family of colonists."

"Good Gracious!"

"Doctor, do you see that little pale-faced man in the corner, who looks so "triste;" let me have his pardon."

"Ah, you don't know him. He committed a crime too horrible to mention."

"Señor Gefe," says an elegant and pretty girl, speaking coaxingly, 'you will do me the great favour to pardon that man who is talking to the 'vigilante;' that one with large eyes and a red handkerchief round his throat. He cannot have done anything very bad; let me have him, poor fellow."

"Pero niña mia," dout you know that that man is Jaime, the most cold-blooded assassin in the prison, and the most perverse of the whole lot?',

"Dios mio" cried the girl, "who would have thought it?"

"Doctor, do look at that good-natured man who is laughing and talking with the sentry; that one who is making up a cigarrillo; he can't be very guilty."

"Señorita Maria, that nice looking man you are interested in is the atrocious villain Reynosa, who has just been sentenced to twenty years in chains, and ought to have been shot."

"Jesus Maria! que horror!"

It was curious that as a general rule the young ladies singled out the very worst criminals as subject of their commiseration. Their more prudent mamas, however, were more practical. They had lists already made out of the prisoners for whom they asked and obtained grace, some forty, in goal to minor offences, such as half killing a wife, fighting and wounding, drunkenness and other trivial offences. They will all get back into their old quarters behind the bars e'er a month is over.

The extension or branch line from Frias, on the Northern Railway, to Santiago, has been pushed forward in a very satisfactory manner. The head engineer, Mr. Valliente-Noailles deserves a great deal of credit; from all accounts, the works are solidly done, and the permanent way well laid. This branch was only commenced early last year, and it is expected the line will be finished in August or September. The whole length will be 162 kil; 90 of which are laid down with rails, the earth works being finished to Santiago. The works on this branch have been retarded by the difficulty of receiving the necessary supply of materials. We all remember how completely inadequate the Northern Railway was last year to supply the wants of the commercial community, much less the Santiago branch. But that has all changed; the National Government has been liberal; the Northern Central is now well supplied with rolling stock, and under the able management of Mr. Tedin, is, for the first time, in a condition to satisfy the calls made on it. With a sufficient supply of rails Mr Vaillant says he can lay a kilometre per day; if this is the case the line to Santiago might be opened in July, but we will give it until September, although in the winter season the works ought to advance with greater ease and rapidity than in summer. An interesting peculiarity in the construction of the Santiago extension is the fact that all the engineers connected with it are Argentines born, and all young men. The chief, Mr. Valiente, is not thirty. The sub-director is a Mr. Barabino. Both are Porteños. The others are Cornejo of Salta; Delgado, of Catamarca; Zavelia, of Tucuman, and Corvalan of Santiago. About half way they are sinking an artesian well, with all the most modern apparatus and appliances. The depth reached already is 40 metres; the boring up to the present has been through sand and clay, with nodules of granite.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent).

GOSSIP.

March 28.

If it be the rule that the children of pious parents go astray, it seems equally true that the business mind, or, at least, the legal mind, fails, on the score of tact or sympathy, or whatever may be the more feminine qualities requisite for governing a family. We are barely rid of the first whisperings of the Garmoyle-Finney affair, and have dried the tear of sympathy dropped over the domestic griefs of the good, sententious Earl Cairns and his mate, when the tongues of the west-end are set agoing about the exemplary Lord Coleridge's family arrangements. In this case there is no scandal whatever. It is simply the old question of the sons and daughters of the rich, and generally the newly-ennobled, and particularly, it would seem, the nobility of the "long robe"—making a mesalliance. In the present instance the recalcitrant child is a daughter. At all events, I am told that the Hon. Augusta has set her heart on a young barrister, a Mr. A———, a gentleman sans reproche, but without title or much money. Her parent, who has the misfortune to be Lord Chief Justice, and looks forward to still higher honours, set his face against the match at once, and with such determination, that the Hon. Augusta had to defer her hopes. All that remained to her was the power of spiting her too artistocratically-inclined father, whose weakness she seems to have guessed too well, when she sent round circulars dated, not Sussex-square, where the family live, but Sussex-place, just round the corner, whereby she advertises her intention of giving music-lessons, and hopes, by attention to her duties, to merit, &c. It is said she has received a host of applications, and, of course, this very mild and creditable mode of vindictiveness, on the part of the young lady, is only appreciated by friends of the family who know her, and see clearly that the Hon. Augusta is not likely to be easily beaten, even by a Lord Chief Justice.

The newspapers tell [illegible] guished [illegible] us that a distinguished judge, who stands almost at the head of the bench, has proposed to Miss Mary Anderson, the American actress, who is now playing with such success at the Lyceum, in two of Mr. Gilbert's pieces, "Pygmalion" and "Galatea," and "Comedy and Tragedy." The suit, they say, of the noble and learned lord has not prospered. His hand has been rejected. However, Lord Coleridge writes to the Pall-Mall Gazette to say, that it would be affectation on his part to doubt that the rumour just given refers to him. He begs to say that he never had the pleasure of seeing Miss Anderson either in public or private, and that the whole tale is an impudent falsification.

One feels inclined to ask in what balloon can Lord Coleridge have lived that he has never seen Miss Anderson?

The London correspondent of the Belfast News-Letter writes:—

"I have just heard that it was the Hon. Bernard Coleridge, Lord Coleridge's son and heir, that made offer of marriage to Miss Mary Anderson, which was 'declined with thanks.' This may explain the otherwise strong use of the word 'falsification' which appears in Lord Coleridge's letter."

I may take the opportunity of stating, that Miss Anderson has improved very much in her acting since her first appearance in London. She has entirely lost all trace of the American accent and is less artificial than she was in her pathetic and passionate moments. For myself, I like her better in the part of Clarice, the French actress in the days of the Regency, in "Tragedy and Comedy," than in that of "Galatea," notwithstanding the marvellous statuesque costume, the bright and Grecian-like bound hair, the slim figure, classic features, and the poetry of motion made so enticingly evident by the light and yielding texture of the muslin. Most of this get-up is false. The slim, tall figure and the expressive eyes are Mary Anderson's, but the classic-shaped head and bust are theatrical properties. What Mary Anderson is off the stage can be seen any Sunday at Farm-street Chapel. She is, in many respects, all that is charming, but not like her photographs as Galatea, which turn the heads of the "mashers." What is most admirable is her voice, reminding very old stagers of Miss P. Horton, or Mrs. Charles Kean. I had not for many years heard that particular ripe-toned laughter, or rich stagechuckle in an Englishwoman, until I heard Miss Anderson the other night as Clarice. The stage girls of the day are too small, or skinny, or short, or something; they have not the metal, or the length or width of piping to get any tone out of them, or more than a vulgar Cockney twang or common female screech.

Both Mrs. Langtry and Mr. Irving have been most successful in America. They return soon. Mrs. Langtry will play in the provinces in this country for some weeks in the autumn, and, after a short London season, she goes back to the States, where she talks of becoming lessee of a theatre. It is devoutly to be hoped she may not lose her rapidly-growing fortune, as many of her predecessors have done in such speculations. Mr. Irving, it is said, thinks of building in London a new theatre of his own on models and plans designed by himself. The total receipts of his American tour reach 400,000 dollars.

The great event of the London season this year is to be the "Shakspearean Show" at the Albert Hall, in May next. Several of Shakspeare's plays are to be illustrated with scenic effects. Of course, it is a charity affair, and you understand that stalls will be placed before the proscenium of each theatre—17 of them—and Lady This as a witch in Macbeth, or the Countess of That, as Juliet, will ease you of your spare fivers. Great fun for the people who get it up, and great bosh for the public who go; but they will go in shoals as herrings to the net so deftly spread by fair and fashionable hands. There is to be an official programme called the "The Shakepearean Show Book," to which Lord Tennyson, Mr. Robert Browning, and other person distinguished in literature and art are to contribute.

THE REFRIGERATOR AT WORK.

The refrigerator works of the Texas Continental Meat Company were opened on Monday and the slaughtering commenced on a bunch of beeves purchased of Hudson & Carpenter and a few hundred muttons bought of Downer & Norton of Montague county. The works will continue in operation indefinitely, and from this time on the company are prepared to buy both beeves and muttons.

On Tuesday Captain J. C. Richardson, purchasing agent of the company, was interviewed on the mutton question. In the beginning he said he had been offered his choice of plenty of muttons but he was afraid of them, representations were good enough, but on the scales it took thirty to weigh a ton, and that the proportion of bone and offal in light sheep was so great that he could not get enough meat out of them to pay for labor, time and trouble. The captain said he had no difficulty with cattle purchases, because a few pounds more or less made little difference, but with sheep good ones were wanted or they could not pay good prices for them.

According to the captain's statement, he is willing to pay from 2 to 2¼ cents per pound for sheep that would weigh ninety pounds and under, but would pay three cents per pound for fat sheep averaging one hundred pounds or for sheep averaging [illegible] and ten pounds [illegible] one hundred pounds he would pay three and a quarter cents per pound, which he demonstrated by market reports, was more than the same class of sheep would bring at any of the great markets after deducting charges.

The company expect and are willing to pay the prices the same class of stock will bring on the markets, less freights and other charges, which leaves the owner the saving of shrinkage in transit, which is a considerable saving, but Captain Richardson contends that he cannot pay Chicago or St. Louis prices without freight charges off, nor handle thin scalawag sheep, such as would only be sold to feeders at nominal figures to be fattened. He is buying to kill, and can purchase only such as are fit to kill and sell again for mutton in competition with good muttons. The company's profit is in economic methods and comes out of the savings that can be made in transportation, and the benefit to sellers is in finding a home market, without risk by forced sale and loss in transit either in shrinkage, damage, or by death.

The prices offered for hundred pound sheep and upward certainly are equal to prices at the great markets, if transportation and feed charges and commissions are deducted, and the company should he offered none but such as are fat. Here, as in Chicago or St. Louis, it takes two thin sheep to equal one fat one in value.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The Bahia Blanca excursionists arrived back safely on Sunday night, not so "done up" as might have been expected. They are all praise of cloud in the admirable and lavishly hospitable arrangements made for their comfort during the long and fatiguing double journey to and from the Argentine Liverpool.

In consequence of the rainy weather the annual General Meeting of the British Hospital announced for the 28th inst. could not take place, and the meeting was consequently postponed untill 3 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday 30th inst. at No. 77 Calle Maipu. It is earnestly hoped that there will be a full attendance on that day, as matters of great interest will be treated off.

The Rain has been the great topic for the past 48 hours. Such torrents as fell in the city on Sunday and yesterday were a "novedad" for the oldest inhabitant. If such terrific rain has been general, there wont be a single lamb left in the camp, and the South camps must be many a foot deep under water. How true our prediction, a month ago, of very wet weather has proved. The telegrams from Montevideo say that it has rained in torrents all over Banda Oriental; rivers and arroyos overflowing, and telegraphic communication stopped.

We deeply regret to announce to-day the death of Mrs. Coffin, wife of our highly esteemed friend Mr. T. B. Coffin of Moron, with whom we deeply sympathise in his sad bereavement. The deceased lady, whose last illness only dated from Friday, was one of the oldest foreign residents in this country, having come here sixty years ago. She has died full of years, virtues and good works, and a large circle of friends will long mourn her loss. The funeral takes place in Moron to-day at 12½ p.m.

We're all going literary mad, stark mad, here in the River Plate. Between the Centro Gallego, and Shakespeare, and Cervantes, and D'Amicis, all the men and women and boys and girls in town are "off their heads." The latest proposal is a Blue Stocking Society, from which may Jupiter deliver us.

The storm yesterday knocked down the oldest house in Buenos Ayres, the Puyrredon Quinta, in Calle Cerrito, leading down to the river. It was said that five people, who were passing by at the time, were killed by the fall of the house, but we could not ascertain whether this sad news was all true or not.

We have received from a passenger out by the R.M.S. La Plata a very interesting description of her voyage, which was very pleasant, barring a couple of stiff gales. We hold the communication for our next, as we have no space to-day.

La Vida Porteña is a very nice little weekly paper that has recently entered the editorial arena. It is amusing, well got up and printed on excellent paper, and its caricatures are the best as yet seen in an Argentine illustrated paper.

It is announced that Dr. Gould, the eminent Director of the Cordoba Observatory, will meet General Sarmiento in Mendoza on the "viejo luchador's" return from San Juan, and join him in giving a public conference, to start a Biblioteca Popular in that city.

Dr. D'Amico, Governor-elect, left town for La Plata yesterday, in all the rain. His Excellency's sense of duty is strong. La Plata must have been a grand place for young ducks yesterday.

We hold for our next issue extracts from a letter of a passenger by the ill-fated steamer Reliance. Dr. Grace behaved most nobly in the emergency, and was the last passenger to leave the wreck.

There was a rumour afloat yesterday afternoon that the National gunboat Parana had met with hard times on the South Coast. Nothing more likely, considering the severe weather.

The charming daughter of one of our oldest German subscribers, living in the Calle Salta, had a miraculous escape during the thunder-storm yesterday. Whilst sitting in the room, lightning, conducted by the telephone wires, entered, but happily did no injury. Subscribers should be very careful when making use of telephones during a thunder-storm, as accidents are likely to occur.

We have not yet received a description of the Bachelors' Ball at Montevideo, but hear it was a very "chic" affair indeed. The belles of the ball were three—an Anglo-Uruguayan dame, a Castelian dame and a British damsel. The toilettes were remarkable for elegance and taste.

The squeeze in the Anglo-Argentine tramcars yesterday, at the Plaza Once arroyo, opposite the station, was tremendous. Several times horses and cars were all but carried away, and the passengers had to stand on the seats to keep their feet out of the water. It is calculated that, from Sunday morning at 3 a.m., until noon yesterday, 131 millimetres of rain fell.

Messrs Moore & Tudor, Buenos Aires.

Gentlemen,

Many thanks for so promptly sending the "Glycerine Dip." It has saved thousands of animals in this neighbourhood. The news of the instantaneous cure of maggots in our cattle and sheep spread like a camp fire, and our neighbours for leagues round came for "un poco de remedio para probar," but they soon came back for more and would pay any price; they came daily from all quarters, even beyond the Azul; they could not believe the price to be $8 per lb. out here, the "remedios" they got from the "boticas" being so much more expensive and less effective

Cedulas E	89¼
Cedulas F	85½
National Bank Shares....	139½
Nat. Bank Certificados..	50

In spite of the inclement weather the deluge of rain and the flooded condition of Calle San Martin, there was a crowd round the ring this morning, but umbrellas and water-proofs were at a higher premium than shares, Cedulas or the Scrip. Speculation ruled dull and there was a damp feeling about everything. Shares ruled weak, and Cedulas weaker; the Certificados even drooped. The general subject of comment in every circle was the news launched on Sunday morning announcing the officious intervention of an agent of the National Government in affairs of the Provincial Bank. Although an interference of this nature might not be an impossibility no credit is given to news, which has been officially contradicted in very strong terms.
A few hundred shares of the National Bank were sold for the end of the month at 139½-¼. Six hundred were sold for the end of next month, the market opening at 141 and dropping successively to 140⅜, closing rate. Three hundred Certificados changed hands for cash at 50, and more were offered at this rate. The market ruled very dull all morning, and little interest was shewn in the transactions effected.
Over one hundred thousand Series E were sold for the end of the month at 89¾-½. A few thousand Series F changed hands for cash at 85½, and 30,000 were sold for the end of the month at the same rate. The Series E ruled weak at the quotations on the board.
The expenses of the City Improvement Works for March and April are stated to be $52,000 m/n; the Government will draw for this amount. The late heavy rains have greatly interfered with the progress of these works, and it looks as if the winter will be very wet and unfavorable for the purpose.
The Board of the City Improvement Works should increase the number of sumpts in the streets in the centre of town; at present the number is insufficient to drain the water that accumulates after heavy rain. Yesterday many streets were impassable, and in parts the water stretched from sidewalk to sidewalk, occasioning much inconvenience and delay. Every year the same complaints are made, and it is to be hoped that something will be done at present.
On Friday night at 9.30 p.m. the Great Southern Railway Co.'s telegraph (4 wires) line was maliciously cut in four different places between Ranchos and Villanueva stations; judging from the appearance of the damaged wires a file or sharp instrument was used. This interruption led to much inconvenience and long delays, especially with regard to the transmission of the lengthy press-telegrams from Bahia Blanca. The police have arrested two men on suspicion; the guilty parties should be severely punished.
Telegrams from Bahia Blanca announce that the railway telegraph office at the port took fire and was burnt to the ground; all the instruments destroyed. No further damage is reported from the site of the disaster.
The following were the sales at the ring during official hours:—
Cedulas—
For April 30th E 146,000 at 89⅜-½
For cash F 6,100 at 85⅝-½
For April 29th F 8,000 at 85½
For April 30th F 30,000 at 85⅝
Sales, 189,100
National Bank Shares—
For April 30th 250 at 139½-½
For May 31st 600 at 141-140¾-⅝
Sales, 850
National Bank Certificates, 30 o/o paid—
For cash 300 at 50

The fast steamer Nord America arrived in Genoa on the 26th inst. The Equateur has arrived in Montevideo with 180 passengers and 3660 barrels of Bordeaux wine. The Flaxman and Lennox have also arrived in the Mouth.
Friends who went out to the Outer Roads to welcome relatives and others in the Royal Mail steamer had a very wet and dreary passage; the Royal Mail steamer did not put in an appearance until 4 p.m. Passengers in the small steamer happily met with a warm and hospitable reception on board the splendid steamer Orione, where a sumptuous breakfast was served and every attention was paid to the famished visitors. The arrangements on board the Orione are magnificent; electric lights all over the ship, in the parlor, on the baths, bath-rooms, etc. The Italian Companies steamers are beating all other companies; they surpass both English, French and German lines in speed, and are quite up to the mark with regard to cleanliness, comforts and luxury.
There was little done in exchange this morning; the weather put a stop to a good deal of business. Rates shew no change and the feeling in the market continues with a firm tendency.
The money market is easy; discounts are quoted at 7 o/o, and plenty of capital continues to be offered on the Bolsa, where a larger margin is secured on stock and speculative transactions.
A crowd of Bahia Blanca excursionists were welcomed back to-day. They all agree that the arrangements of the company were on a gorgeous style and worthy of the event. Much credit is due to Messrs. Allen, Crawley, and Huxtable, who presided over all the arrangements. Mr. G. Cooper, the talented General Manager, could not attend, owing to the consequence of the accident in the bath establishment. Mr. Cooper, we hear, will leave on the 5th prox. with his family for Europe. The entire market wishes him a speedy recovery.
A leading colleague corroborates our previous statements with regard to the formation of the proposed National Mortgage Bank. In the preparatory sessions held by Congress men the matter has already been discussed; an Argentine capitalist, it is rumored, has offered to the Government all the capital necessary for the purpose. The Government will probably carry out the business without the interference of private capitalists.
Advices from the Mount are very dull; at the amortization of Public Bonds some Deuda Amortizable was amortized at 90,10 o/o—the highest figure ever reached for this stock. Little doing on the Bolsa; all stocks firm.
As wool men entered the Plaza Constitucion Station this morning they heard, besides the monotonous and dreary music of the rain pelting the glass roof and tiles, reminding German subscribers of Sant Sain's Diluvio at the concert,—a far more threatening concert—the hub-bub of angry voices. It was the grumbling of the popular body of "consignatarios," who had not received invitations to attend the Bahia Blanca inauguration. A few had received invitations at a late hour on the day of departure, and consequently declined with thanks. High-lifers, who travel perhaps once a year on the line, were preferred to the industrious and hard-working "consignatarios" who not only represent wealthy almaceneros, but contribute largely to the enormous profits of the Great Southern Railway. All the "consignatarios" are very much disappointed because they have been overlooked for the sake of correct bank managers, oily lawyers, polished editors, and, last not least, fastidious money brokers.
Don Eduardo Madero arrived in Montevideo to-day; he will come up to-morrow.
The market ruled weak and dull during afterhours; shares fell to 139, but little or nothing were done. The scrip ruled in great demand; there were buyers for cash and for the end of the month at rates above 50.
At the Plaza Once de Setiembre nothing done, owing to the bad weather.
127 waggons with produce arrived.
The arrivals were:—

6,089 @ of wool
4,302 bags wheat
2,247 bags maize
1,007 bags flour
7,400 @ turnip
433 bales hay

and much hides and skins, &c.
At the Plaza Constitucion no business don, owing to the heavy rain.
148 waggons arrived with produce.
The arrivals were:—

13,886 @ of wool
500 fanegas maize
200 fanegas wheat

And at Barracas—

72 bales wool
63 doz. sheepskins
2,904 bags wheat
1,979 cabones
4,200 kilos of bones
7,200 kilos stones

The snag-up in the goods traffic at the railway station in Cordoba must be truly formidable. In addition to thousands of tons of goods, there are 58,000 railway sleepers in the station, that cannot be sent on for want of trucks.

The Shakespeare-Cervantes 'velorio' fiasco has caused a split in the Centro Gallego. A large majority of the members petitioned the Committee to call a General Meeting, with the acknowledged object of sending the said Committee about their business. The Committee, however, like true Spaniards, "took the bull by the horns" and at once expelled all the petitioning members from the Club. The expelled members then met and declared the Committee expelled, namming a new one in their stead. Thus the quarrel stands, and it is a pretty one enough.

The Nord America is beating her reputation. She has made the return voyage from the Plate to Genoa in 14 days. Her run out may cause another such agreeable surprise.

The 'Tertulia' in the Flores Club on Saturday night was one of the most successful reunions of the season. The genial hospitality of the Club members is proverbial, as also the charming grace and vivacity of the lovely daughters of the 'Village of the Plain.' Dancing continued uninterrupted until the very big hours of the morning, so the final break-up did not take place until the first tramcar for town was signalled. The worthy 'Confitero' of Flores superintended in person the refreshment arrangements. Many returns of the evening were toasted in some of his fine old 1834 Port. Outside our great city Clubs, there are no more popular soirees than those given by the Flores Club.

The National gunboat Uruguay will soon be ready for sea, as nothing now remains to be done except to take marine stores on board for the voyage. She will be taken to Liverpool to undergo overhauling and any repairs that may be necessary.

Our colleague La Patria Argentina, the great authority on maritime news, gives a succinct description of the deplorable state of the Brown. Enumerating all the glorious qualities she formerly possessed, the Patria says that inaction and disuse have rendered her heavy and sluggish, and that nothing but another visit to Poplar, London, will ever restore her to her pristine splendor. It is worthy of note that the Brown's longest voyage, since she arrived in American waters, has been the trip from Punta Lara to Montevideo.

The French troops are not conducing themselves over well or decently in Tonkin. The correspondent of the Times at Haiphong, Tonquin, forwards an account of the Tonquinese under French rule. He states that until they are better treated, till a woman is able to go about the streets without being pounced upon by the first French soldier she meets, till the cultivator or huckster is able to attend the bi-weekly market without fear of having his goods scattered wantonly about the street and himself receiving ill-usage, there will be no pacification of Tonquin outside the garrison towns. The French officer has no control whatever over his men; there is an almost entire absence of even a semblance of discipline. Although the French have had a concession at Haiphong for upwards of ten years and the town has been virtually French for nearly a year, and notwithstanding the constant outrages of the past few months, there seems not the slightest present intention of organising a police force.

Mr. Carvalho's tenth contribution to our pictorial gallery is a welcome addition and perhaps the best his pencil has traced up to date. The likeness of Dr. Jose Marie Gutierrez is striking, and the grand old man, with his fine forehead, eloquent eyes, and white locks is the theory and type of the old school. We congratulate Mr. Carvalho on his production; every new portrait shews the excellence of his pencil.

Two fashionable tourists have arrived in the Plate, one with an ample supply of tinned meats, the other with an arsenal of blunder-busses, rifles, revolvers, guns and mitrailleuses. They have arrived exactly fifty years too late, perhaps five hundred years too soon.

Mr. Julian Anades has made a contract with the General Director of Posts approved by the Minister of the Interior, to forward correspondence on the following lines: from Arrecifes to Salto, from Salto to Rojas, from Rojas to Junin, from Pergamino to Rojas, from Chivilcoy to Chacabuco and Junin, from Chivilcoy to Salto.

An American paper says—"Old Bat de Prare, who fought with Jackson at New Orleans, is hale and hearty at Marsfield. Wis., at the ripe age of 106. He says that for over fifty years he did not sleep under a roof."

A St. Louis girl's foot was sprained by a tight shoe, and resultant blood-poisoning killed her. She was a heroine. She determined to wear a shoe that size, and she did.

There is a prodigious squeeze for houses and lodgings at La Plata. Those who own houses (?) there are making fortunes. Miserable structures that cost only 200,000$m/c are now giving 20,000$m/c rent.

Todo el mundo conoce ya la citada seccion por ser una de las mejores por sus ricos y abundantes pastos y buenos aguadas, y la prueba es que hoy dia es la mas poblada de todas las secciones, siendo los principales pobladores los Sres. Antonino Cambaceres, Newton, Tornquist, Jaime Cibils, Pedro Saubidet, Drysdale y muchos otros cuya lista seria larga á detallar.

Para los que duden del valor de las tierras, les aconsejamos que lean los diarios de Nueva Zelandia (Auckland) y Australia, donde campos como estos se venden á 5 patacones el area, que equivalen a 34000 $f treinta y cuatro mil patacones la legua cuadrada, y podran ver que los campos se venden alli hasta 12½ millones la legua.

Ademas les recordamos las ultimas ventas de la Oficina de Tierras de lo Provincia donde se han vendido campos en peores condiciones y distante 130 leguas de un puerto, a 54000 $ legua.

No queremos insistir en mayores demostraciones sobre el porvenir de las tierras de este pais: cada uno debe saber lo que hace.
